Dear IJSDP Editorial Board

REVIEWER'S COMMENTS

Title of the article reviewed

Condition of plantation and development strategy of sago garden

Summary

This study aims to determine plantations' condition and sago gardens' development strategy in Sumber Agung Village, East Seram Regency, Maluku Province. The research sample is determined by purposive sampling because farmers have a strong desire and willingness to organize sago forests into sago gardens. The number of samples is 50 respondents. The results show that the sago garden location is located in an area with Alluvial Plain physiography with choppy microrelief so that there are sporadic spreading basins that cause puddles. The community's perception of factors towards the development of sago plantations show that the convenience construct does not have a significant effect on the needs construct. While the aesthetics construct, benefit has a significant influence on the needs construct.

Major Issues

According to my observation, the data given in the article is not enough to support the conclusion of the composition research. The author's view on the sustainable economic development of companies in different industries lacks a combination of quantitative analysis and qualitative analysis. It is recommended that the author give specific results based on the proposed second-stage field survey method. In addition, the author did not discuss whether the recommendations in the conclusion are applicable to other regions and whether they have strong practical significance.

Minor Issues

Abstract:

- It is recommended that the innovations, future research directions and limitations of this paper should be included at the end of the abstract.
- The selected keywords are too many keywords, which should not exceed five, it is not easy for me to grasp the point.
- The content of the abstract part can be further enriched, for example, explaining the concept of "local sago food".

Introduction:

- Will the classification of sago planting characteristics affect Indonesia's food production?
- In addition to the introduction of the characteristics of sago itself, it is recommended that the author give the basic environmental resource requirements for sago cultivation.
- The innovation point and effect of the article are not informed in the abstract, which is better to be added if possible.

Materials and methods:

- Is there anything special about the location selected for the study? What is the method of sampling survey?
- What is the specific content of SWOT analysis used in qualitative analysis, and what is the measurement standard?
- It is recommended that the author give the analysis index and analysis result of the Likert scale.

Result and discussion:

- There is no period in the last sentence of the second paragraph. The author should pay attention to writing rules.
- There are improper use of articles throughout this part. It is recommended that the author revise this question one by one.
- It is recommended that the author give the graphical analysis and explanation of Table 1.

- In this part, the author gives the adjustment results and analysis, and illustrates characteristics more clearly in the form of charts.

Conclusion:

- It is suggested to explain the innovation of the research and the results are analyzed quantitatively and qualitatively in the conclusion part.
- In the last paragraph, the author consider the methodology can be reproduced in different sectors but didn't clarify the characteristic of case selection.

Others:

The following minor issues should be noted by the author:

- Figures and tables should be inserted in the corresponding positions of the text, which can improve the readability of the article.
- In the whole article, the author uses too many logical words, but it does not achieve the effect of clear discussion, which brings some difficulty for readers to understand.
- There are many pronouns in the article that refer to unknown issues, such as “this encouraged...” in the section.

Dear Editor-in-Chief of IJSDP

Thanks for the very valuable information. We are happy with this news.

We request information about indexation of IJSDP journals on the Scopus database. Because we saw on the Scopus website, the IJSDP Journal is until 2021. Will it be automatically renewed or what?

We ask this because we will use this journal for proposing lecturers' academic ranks.
The same is true for the Scimago database, for the Quartile ranking of IJSDP journals.

Dear Editor-in-Chief of IJSDP

Thanks for the email.

I really hope that IJSDP is indexed by Scopus, because I will propose an increase in professors who really need international journals to be indexed by Scopus.

Thank you for your understanding.

Regards

Dear author,

Before publication, it is decided that this final proof should be sent to the authors once again for careful reading and re-check, to rule out the mistakes / errors of all kinds.

Download “final proof”. Read them carefully with particular reference to the following points:

1. Check with care all the symbols in the text. If some corrections are left out, highlight them and attach notes on how to correct directly in the PDF file.
2. No revision will be allowed after the final proof.

Please return the corrected final proof before April 21, 2022.

It is our mutual responsibility that the academic works published in the journal should be “mistake or error free” and of quality as well. Our attention and efforts to this would make the journal still better, besides enhancing the utility of your published research.

Kind regards,
